

Your English Journey

Further & Higher Education

As well as Further and Higher Education in English Literature and Language, linguistics and creative writing, English can also lead to a range of other courses, including media, journalism, law and drama. In addition, the many skills you learn and develop in English can facilitate many other A-Level and degree courses.

Careers

A wide range of careers, such as: publishing and media, including journalism, editing and writing; education and academia; recruitment and HR; law; advertising and marketing; research.

conventions, C19 & C20 extracts, creative writing

SPRING

Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing: context, plot, character & themes

People & Places: poetry, fiction and nonfiction from different cultures, places & traditions. Viewpoints, rhetorical techniques, figurative language devices

Power of Persuasion: rhetorical techniques & features of persuasive text and speech

Novel in Context: class study of a novel; developing reading & writing skills

POETRI

AUTUMN

Visions of the Future: conventions of the sci-fi genre.

Creative writing skills

Novel Study - Narrative Adventures: focus on narrative, themes, characterisation

SPRING

AUTUMN

Pictures with Words: poetry analysis and descriptive writing

SUMMER

The Modern Novel: themes, contexts, the writer's craft. Writing skills

> Ballads: conventions & techniques, analysis of a range of ballads

SUMMER

Telling Tales:

A fantasty genre study

with a creative writing outcome.

Magical Shakespeare: A Midsummer Night's Dream OR The Tempest

> Telling Tales: the adventure of English, an introduction to Old English, Middle English and Shakespeare

